

The Collingwood - Hasby Residence 145 Fern Ave.

This is the home of Jarl & Ann Hasby who own the original Sears catalogue which includes plans for their Collingwood #3280. It was built by Jack Hughes around 1930, for his own family. He later built three more Sears homes on Fern Avenue that we know of so far. The 5-room

Collingwood mail-order kit cost $1,497 at that time and included everything except the lot and the site work. Art Miller of Old Forge did the foundation and the brick trim.

Jack Hughes chose not to include the fireplace shown on the Collingwood catalogue floor plan. Although the kitchen and bath have been remodeled, the Hasby's Sears home still has the same layout and most of the original windows and doors from the kit. The model number #3280 is still visible in the attic rafters and floor joists in the basement – a wonderful clue to the identity of Sears Mail-Order Houses. Photo courtesy of Annette Vogel.
